

listen, the only reason I went out and got satellite radio is because the FCC let clear channel buy up all the radio stations in south florida and screw them up! there is nothing, I mean other than talk radio, to listen to down here anymore thanks to the no-compete clear channel has. every station sounds about the same and they play little more than commercials and the same songs every hour. satellite radio has been a Godsend for me. stop messing with stuff all the time and do something productive for a change.
